GIRL IS SOUGHT IN EXPLOSION PROBE

Search Made for 'Betty,'
Sweetheart of Wall St.
Bomb Suspect.

GONE SINCE ARREST

Detectives Discover Shaft
Leading From Old Mine to Ligi's Home.

MORE TO SEE PRISONER

Decision on Habeas Corpus
Plea Expected To-morrow
—Case Stirs Scranton.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
SCRANTON, Pa., April 24.—The Lackawanna Valley, from Scranton to Wilkes-Barre, was covered by detectives to-day in the search for the mysterious "Betty," who is said to be the sweetheart of Tito Ligi, the Wall Street bomb suspect. She has become the central figure in the investigation of the local, New York and Federal officials since the admission of Ligi that he is an anarchist, and his identification Saturday as a man who stood beside the "death wagon" in Wall Street a few minutes before the explosion.

Betty, whose name has entered the case before, is described as a pretty Italian girl, who has been almost continuously in the company of Ligi for more than a year. She at one time worked in a restaurant, where the suspect was a waiter and disappeared simultaneously with his arrest last Tuesday afternoon. Friends of the girl in this city insist that she can account for Ligi's movements between September 8 and September 25.

Before coming to Scranton Betty is understood to have lived in Old Forge, eight miles south of this city. Old Forge was the centre of radical activities of northeast Pennsylvania during the war. The headquarters of the I. W. W. in that town was raided two years ago, more than 150 arrests being made by the State police.

Old Forge was one of the first places the detectives went to to-day. They interviewed several persons acquainted with Betty, but all asserted they had not seen her in many months. From Old Forge the detectives went to Wilkes-Barre, where the girl was employed at one time, but their search was equally unsuccessful there.

While the search for Betty was being made, Detective Sergeant Cornelius Brown of the New York bomb squad and Detective John Gilroy of the Scranton police revisited the abandoned mine shaft in South Scranton. The local police have expressed the belief that the Wall Street bomb was manufactured in a mine shaft in the Lackawanna Valley and possibly in the one in South Scranton, which is in the centre of an Italian mining colony.

The suspicions of the local police were first aroused two months ago when residents of "Shanty Hill," by which name the section is known, reported having heard explosions almost nightly in the woods directly east of the shaft. Each explosion would be accompanied by a flare as though some one was experimenting with explosive.

Last week there was a cave-in on "Shanty Hill." They are not unusual in Scranton, as the city is built on top of one of the largest mines in the anthracite region, but this one revealed a shaft that ran from the junction of Brock street and Prospect avenue to a point almost directly under 521 Brock street, where Ligi lived before his arrest. There also was found a trap door leading to the shaft not far from the suspect's home. Since the Federal agents and New York detectives reached here they have made almost daily visits to the shaft. Nearly all the chambers on the first level had been searched up

DAYLIGHT SAVING GLIDES SMOOTHLY INTO NEW YORK

Little Confusion Observed at Terminals Due to Setting
Clocks Forward—Business Opens To-day on New Schedule.

Daylight saving apparently has become second nature to New Yorkers. Although last year there was considerable confusion in the railroad terminals in addition to several hundred thousand explanations of lateness on the morning after, it was said yesterday at both the Grand Central and Pennsylvania stations that there had been no noticeable confusion. The same was true at other terminals in and near the city. The day was just like any other day, and trains were made and missed just as they are on any other day. Commuters' trains are observing the new time.

All arrangements have been made by banks, factories and other institutions to start this morning in conformity with the new schedule. Stock exchanges in other cities will be expected to conform in time with the New York Stock Exchange, and will open an hour earlier and close an hour earlier in order to prevent interference with business.

Daylight saving will be effective this summer in most of the large cities and industrial centres in the northern section of the Eastern time zone and in the majority of the larger cities in the northeastern section of the Central time zone, but as far as reports are obtainable it will not be put into effect in the Southern or Western States.

MASKED BANDITS ROB POLITICIANS

Republican Club in Baltimore
Entered During Card Game and Seven Held Up.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
BALTIMORE, Md., April 24.—Four masked men, with revolvers entered the Sixteenth Ward Republican Club this morning and robbed seven members of money and jewelry, who were playing cards. One of the bandits guarded the door while the others looted the pockets of the victims. The four then calmly walked out, after warning the members not to make an outcry.

The police are positive that the perpetrators are the same who "stuck up" the members of a Democratic club two weeks ago.

According to the story told by the club members, a small game was in progress when the bell was rung. Then came a request to see William Riley, one of the members. Riley left the game and went to the front door, where four men were just emerging from a large closed automobile.

Two of the bandits prodded Riley's ribs with automatics as they warned him not to make an outcry. Three of the men walked into the room where the game was in progress, while the fourth stood on lookout for the police.

Despite the fact that handkerchiefs were used as masks, the club members were able to furnish the police with a fair description of the men.

SOFT COAL OUTPUT GROWS.

Increased Production Goes Into Domestic Channels.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Bituminous coal production, which has been exceedingly low since January 1, showed a substantial increase during the week ending April 16, according to figures given out by the Geological Survey today. The total output, including lignite and coking coal, was 6,525,000 tons, or 415,000 more than during the previous week.

Most of the coal produced went into domestic channels, the survey observed.

D. A. R. SQUABBLES OVER A PORTRAIT

One Faction Insists Upon Giving
Place to Picture of Mrs. Storey.

WAS ONCE THE PRESIDENT

Administration Balks Eleventh Hour Attempt in Convention.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.
New York Herald Bureau.
Washington, D. C., April 24.

A lively factional row within the ranks of the D. A. R. is threatened by a fight almost precipitated by the New York delegation in the Daughters' congress that adjourned here Saturday. In the closing days of the session adherents of Mrs. William Cummins Storey of New York, former president-general, nearly started something, but they were stopped before the rest of the congress knew what it was all about. The matter at issue is whether the picture of Mrs. Storey, removed by her bitter political enemy and successor, Mrs. George Thatcher Guernsey of Kentucky, shall be replaced in Continental Hall. The squabble has been brewing between the Storey and Guernsey factions over the last four years.

Upon the retirement in 1917 of Mrs. Storey the national organization collected funds providing for the painting of a picture of Mrs. Storey, to be presented to the Daughters. Mrs. Storey had been president-general from 1913 until that date. The picture was done by a New York artist, J. Campbell Phillips, and rested on the platform during the congress of 1917, when Mrs. Storey retired. It was then removed in the last week of the Storey administration to the office of the president-general, where it was supposed it would stand among the portraits of other presidents-general.

Mrs. Guernsey, who had consistently opposed the Storey administration, was elected Mrs. Storey's successor, and shortly after taking office in 1917 caused the Storey portrait to be removed from the walls of the president's office and consigned to the cellar. The ostensible excuse was that it had not met with the approval of the committee on art. Later the picture was shipped to Mrs. Storey in New York city.

The Guernsey administration expired with the Congress of a year ago. Shortly after Mrs. Minor took office last year pressure was brought to bear on her to restore the portrait, as it was in reality a gift by members of the organization to the national order. Mrs. Minor, however, failed to take action.

During the convention last Friday Mrs. Brackett asked for the floor on a matter of personal privilege, intending to bring up the portrait matter. Mrs. Brackett is said to have got as far as saying "It is a matter of justice," when she is alleged by the Storey faction to have been cut off by the chair, who declared the matter, they say, without hearing exactly what it was about, to be a "reflection on the national officers." One of the Storey delegates immediately arose and asked for a ruling on the

And good for 50 years

Yes—this is a low price for a steel cabinet possessing the Allsteel features of strength and utility.

To make sure that it was worthy of the Allsteel name, it was put to a test which proved its endurance and sound construction to a certainty.

A heavily loaded drawer was opened and closed 100,000 times—the equivalent of 50 years' actual use—and was still in good, smooth working order.

Maybe it is good for 100 years, but let your grandsons find that out.

Let us show you by some astounding demonstrations what GF Allsteel means in strength, rigidity, and endurance.
